DESCRIPTION

European Red Elder (also known as Elderberry) is a large shrub that produces creamy white flowers in spring, followed by clusters of red fruit. It tolerates considerable moisture and partial shade. It is vigorous and easy to grow.

'Morden Golden Glow' has fine textured, bright golden foliage that slowly ages to green. It will display its best yellow color on sunny sites. It has a compact form, and has been touted as a nice alternative to Japanese Maples for colder climates.

The bright color and interesting texture of 'Morden Golden Glow' will enliven a shrub border, or stand well on its own as a specimen plant.
