DESCRIPTION

Weigela has long been valued for their profuse display of brightly colored flowers in late spring. They are extremely adaptable to soil type and grow best in full sun.

Pearl produces white flowers that have a yellow throat. Flowers change to pink, with both colors present on the plant at the same time. Pearl will rebloom throughout the summer without deadheading.

Utilize this shrub in perennial and shrub borders or massed in the landscape. With a light pruning to tidy the plant after flowering, it could also be incorporated into foundation plantings.
