DESCRIPTION

Cornus florida, or Flowering Dogwood, is an excellent small tree for gardens! Their colorful bracts in early spring are long lasting, and most exhibit wonderful fall color. Provide this Dogwood type with organic, acidic, well-drained soils in partial shade. Full sun sites will need adequate moisture during the summer months.

'Cloud 9' has a broadly rounded crown. Profuse flowering is exhibited at a young age, so much that the flowers overlap. Fall brings nice red foliage color and small red fruit.

Plant in groupings, as a single specimen, or in woodland and naturalized gardens.
