DESCRIPTION

Cornus florida, or Flowering Dogwood, is an excellent small tree for gardens! Their colorful bracts in early spring are long lasting, and most exhibit wonderful fall color. Provide this Dogwood type with organic, acidic, well-drained soils in partial shade. Full sun sites will need adequate moisture during the summer months.

Cherokee Sunset™ has an upright habit, with a spreading, rounded crown. It features green leaves with wide yellow margins that turn red, purple and pink in fall. Deep pink spring flowers and small red fruits in fall.

Plant in groupings, as a single specimen, or in woodland and naturalized gardens.
