DESCRIPTION

River Birch is a vigorous tree that provides filtered shade, and can be grown as a single or multi-stemmed specimen. Multiple trunks are best to show off its exfoliating bark, which is particularly ornamental in winter. 'Shiloh Splash' is unique in that it is considerably smaller than the species, and has beautifully variegated foliage. Its green leaves have wide white to ivory margins. It retains the same bark character as the species.

'Shiloh Splash' grows best in evenly moist soil, but will adapt to drier sites. Its smaller stature and ornamental appeal make it a perfect choice for the residential landscape.
