DESCRIPTION

Cornus florida, or Flowering Dogwood, is an excellent small tree for gardens! Their colorful bracts in early spring are long lasting, and most exhibit wonderful fall color. Provide this Dogwood type with organic, acidic, well-drained soils in partial shade. Full sun sites will need adequate moisture during the summer months.

Cherokee Brave™ has an upright habit, forming a spreading, rounded crown. It is a vigorous grower, with dark pink to red flowers in spring. Small red fruits are produced in fall.

Plant in groupings, as a single specimen, or in woodland and naturalized gardens.
