DESCRIPTION

Serbian Spruce is a beautiful conifer that has a gracefully refined appearance. It matures into a narrow pyramidal form, with somewhat pendulous branches. Its needles are a glossy dark green and have a pair of small white stripes on the underside. The effect of this coloration is a shimmering bi-colored appearance. Its cones are violet-purple when young, maturing to reddish-brown.

Serbian Spruce deserves a prominent place in the landscape. Use it in groupings or as a single specimen.
