DESCRIPTION

Weeping Norway Spruce is a large evergreen with pendulous branches. Its form will vary depending on culture; the leader may be staked to achieve a taller height, or allowed to weep for a more spreading habit. Its bright green new growth provides an interesting contrast to the dark green mature foliage.

Weeping Norway Spruce is a fantastic specimen! Utilize a staked form as a focal point in the garden. Free-form types may be allowed to cascade over walls and create a lovely backdrop for flowering plants.
